Copyright Transfer

The copyright to the Paper identified above is transferred to Data Science and Pattern Recognition journal (hereinafter called DSPR). The copyright transfer covers the sole right to print, publish, distribute and sell throughout the world the said Paper and parts thereof, including all revisions or versions and future editions, in all forms and media of expression – such as in its electronic form (offline, online) – now known or developed in the future, as well as to translate, print, publish, distribute and sell the Paper in any foreign languages and throughout the world (for U.S. government employees: to the extent transferable). DSPR will take, either in its own name or in that of the Author, any necessary steps to protect these rights against infringement by third parties. If the Author is an employee of the U.S. Government and performed this work as part of their employment, the contribution is not subject to U.S. copyright protection. If the work was performed under Government contract, but the Author is not a Government employee, DSPR grants the U.S. Government royalty-free permission to reproduce all or part of the contribution and to authorize others to do so for U.S. Government purposes. If any of the above Authors on this agreement is an officer or employee of the U.S. Government reference will be made to this status on the signature page. An author may self-archive his/her article on his/her personal website. The Author must ensure that the publication by DSPR is properly credited and that the relevant copyright notice is repeated verbatim. The Author warrants that the work is original except for such excerpts from copyrighted works (including illustrations, tables, and text quotations) as may be included with the permission of the copyright holder and author thereof, in which case(s) the Author is required to indicate the precise source. DSPR has the right to permit others to use individual illustrations within the usual limits. The Author warrants that the work has not heretofore been published in whole or in part, that it contains no libelous statements and does not infringe on any copyright, trademark, patent, statutory rights or proprietary rights of others; and that he will indemnify DSPR against any cost, expenses or damages for which DSPR may become liable as a result of any breach of this warranty.

Delivery of the Work and Publication

The Author agrees to deliver to the responsible Editor(s) in DSPR on a date to be agreed upon the manuscript created according to the Instructions for Authors.
